Fraud and fiscal irregularities generally involve an intentional or deliberate act, omission or concealment with the intent of obtaining an unauthorized benefit, such as money, property or other personal or business advantage, by deception or other unethical means.

The University’s Prevention and Reporting of Fraud and Fiscal Irregularities Policy informs us of our responsibilities to safeguard institutional resources, and establishes standards for reporting known or suspected fraud or fiscal irregularities.

Check out this brief 4 minute video for more on identifying and preventing potential fraud and fiscal irregularities.

Concerns can be discussed directly with supervisors, Audit and Management Advisory Services (AMAS), and/or Campus Police.
