Get to Know University Compliance

Do you have a compliance question? Not sure how a particular law or University policy might impact your work? Are you unsure how to respond to a known or suspected compliance violation?

Whether it be through its ongoing training and education resources, assisting units at UConn and UConn Health with their monitoring efforts, offering channels for individuals to ask questions and report compliance concerns, the Office of University Compliance is here to promote and support the University's commitment to a culture of compliance and ethical conduct.

Selected Resources

WHAT WE DO

Interested in learning more about the Office of University Compliance?

Click below to get started.

- About Us

ETHICS GUIDANCE

We each have an individual responsibility to comply with the State Code of Ethics for Public Officials. In addition to learning about this topic during annual compliance training, you can always visit our ethics page for additional guidance and resources.

- Visit Now

EDUCATION & AWARENESS

Browse through our various compliance resources to learn about compliance topics. You'll find videos, podcasts, publications, and more.

- Start Browsing

REPORTLINE

The University's REPORTLINE serves as a vehicle for employees to report potential compliance issues. It is available to UConn and UConn Health employees through the telephone and the internet with confidential intake and anonymous reporting options.

- Learn More